Winner of the Management and Leadership Textbook category at the CMI Management Book of the Year Awards 2013/14, International Management explores management opportunities in encounters across the world between national, organizational, political, professional and social cultures. It is soundly based theoretically and supported with real-life international examples from contemporary events and situations, exploring contemporary and historical material to provide insights for today's managers who find themselves dealing with diversity and difference. From a historical perspective and a uniquely cross-disciplinary approach, Elizabeth Christopher identifies the major leadership styles that continue to characterise people across regions, nations, communities and organisations, within groups and as individuals. International Management is a practical and comprehensive textbook for successful negotiation in a world rich not only in cultural diversity but also in convergence. It also covers the ethical, moral and environmental ramifications of business today and the corporate leaders who are learning to manage their businesses across nations and continents, not only profitably but in ways that contribute to societies overall through economic, environmental and social action. International Management is an indispensable guide for students and practitioners to key issues of cross-cultural management, suitable to accompany online or private studies, or a teaching unit within professional and university graduate studies of international management.

"[U]ses a multidisciplinary approach to consider the major leadership styles that characterize individuals and communities, offering keys to negotiating a puzzling array of cultural encounters and providing students and business readers with ideas for cross-cultural management processes. From forming and managing international networks and alliances to handling new technology and global connectivity, this is a powerful pick for any global business collection!" --Midwest Book
"Dr. Elizabeth Christopher shows amazing depth of knowledge and understanding of the forces that have shaped, and are shaping, the business landscape globally. This book will be an invaluable learning tool and reference text for all students and business managers grappling with business issues at an international level." --Emeritus Professor Peter Eddey, Faculty of Business and Economics, Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia
"A fascinating examination of management behaviour across the globe, with much to learn from the huge range of examples of successes and failures - and fully supported by clear and helpful guidance, further reading and notes to enable the reader to maximize their understanding and knowledge of this important field." --Geoffrey Brown, director of Euclid International Ltd.
