He supports the laws with real business stories and leadership anecdotes, then he shows you how to apply these laws (each chapter ends with practical strategies and activities to help you reflect and grow your leadership abilities). Honestly, I couldn't stop reading. But here are the main points from each chapter/law of "The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership": I. The Law Of the Lid: Leadership ability determines a person's level of effectiveness. II. The Law of Influence: The true measure of leadership is influence--nothing more, nothing less. III. The Law of Process: Leadership develops daily, not in a day.IV. The Law of Navigation: Anyone can steer the ship, but it takes a leader to chart the course.V. The Law of Addition: Leaders add value by serving others.VI. The Law of Solid Ground: Trust is the foundation of leadershipVII. The Law of Respect: People naturally follow leaders stronger than themselvesVIII. The Law of Intuition: Leaders evaluate everything with a leadership biasIX. The Law of Magnetism: Who you are is who you attractX. The Law of Connection: Leaders touch a heart before they ask for a hand.XI. The Law of the Inner Circle: A leader's potential is determined by those closest to himXII. The Law of Empowerment: Only secure leaders give power to othersXIII. The Law of the Picture: People do what people see.XIV. The Law of Buy-in: People buy into the leader, then the vision.XV. The Law of Victory: Leaders find a way for the team to win.XVI. The Law of the Big Mo: Momentum is a leader's best friendXVII. The Law of Priorities: Leaders understand that activity is not necessarily accomplishment.XVIII. The Law of Sacrifice: A leader must give up to go up.XIX. The Law of Timing: When to lead is as important as what to do and where to go.XX. The Law of Explosive Growth: To add growth, lead followers--to multiply, lead leaders.XXI. The Law of Legacy: A leader's lasting value is measured by succession.

A great book and the most digestible, practical, and actionable leadership book I've come across other than Leadership 2.00 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Best leadership book written!By D.J. Most leadership books I've found to have nothing useful and are just common knowledge, taken from other writers, seem like the writer has never actually led or managed anyone, or are just complete idiot bunk trying to make the work force a happy place where nothing seems to get done anymore as we're supposed to be everyone's friend. This book is the absolute exception. I received more quality leadership information from this book than every other leadership/management book I've ever read put together. If you'd like to learn how to become a better leader, forget the rest, read this book!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good but needing another book on decision makingBy PappyLoveExcellent but lacking in how to make the critical decisions every leader must make. I recommend "Asking the Right Questions." as an addition. Making good decisions is essential to leadership. It is a learned skill but takes most of us to take a paradigm leap. That means we must throw out the way most of us think and develop a completely new way. The only other ingredient is to have a genuine heart for people. A charismatic leader can "hornswaggle" the masses but that is not good leadership. Also Maxwell has written a latter book.

What would happen if a top expert with more than 40 years of leadership experience were willing to distill everything he had learned about leadership into a handful of life-changing principles just for you? It would change your life. John C. Maxwell has done exactly that in The 21 Irrefutable Laws of Leadership. He has combined insights learned from his thirty-plus years of leadership successes and mistakes with observations from the worlds of business, politics, sports, religion, and military conflict. The result is a revealing study of leadership delivered as only a communicator like Maxwell can.
